

WILLIAM STEVENS - 11.

Q. How many suits did you send to the cleaners?

A. Those.

Q. How did you send them?

A. Sent them back with the young fellow that came up with the suit I had on.

Q. Where did he come from?

A. Lyons and Parker. That's where I got all my clothes.

Q. The black suit you now have on had been to the cleaners?

A. No. It is a new one, the one I telephoned for.

Q. Who?

A. Mr. Lyons because Terry Lyons knows my measurements and everything.

Q. They do a cleaning business also?

A. For me, yes.

Q. Do you know the boy who came after the clothes?

A. I do not recognize him.

Q. About what time Saturday did you order a new suit of clothes?

A. Sometime late in the afternoon I believe. What time I sent.

I knew now after the death I would need a new suit and asked one of the maids the condition of my clothes and she said very shabby.

Q. Who delivered the clothes to the boy?

A. I did myself.

Q. Did you give any instructions?

A. Simply to rush them through. I thought I needed them.

Q. Did you give him any particular directions to take in going down?

A. Just simply to give him a less walk I told him to go on Jones Avenue.

Q. What did you tell him?
